

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Of Mrs. Cady's School for Girls—An Interesting Occasion.

The commencement exercises of Mrs. Cady's school for girls were held in the chapel of the United Church Wednesday morning. A large audience was present and a number of the alumnae of the school from this city and other places. They had come to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary of the school, and this was celebrated yesterday in a most enjoyable manner. At 2 o'clock a luncheon was given by the Alumnae association at the school on Hillhouse avenue. Here were present members of every class that has been graduated, several teachers among them, three who were formerly connected with the school for a longer or shorter term. Small tables were placed in the large drawing room and dining room, at which all the guests were seated. The president of the association, Mrs. Frank Hinman, and Mrs. Cady occupying places at a table at the upper end of the drawing room.

At the close of the luncheon, which was very social and informal, and therefore enjoyable, servants moved the tables at the order of the committee of arrangements, and the guests were all asked to the large drawing room. When the president wrapped, giving the signal for the formal exercises of the day to begin, Mrs. Hinman made a graceful introductory speech, alluding very wittily to her new position as presiding officer and then called upon Mrs. Cady for a speech. Mrs. Cady said a few words expressing her pleasure at the reunion and extending a cordial welcome to her former pupils for whom she expressed much affection.

Mrs. Alfred Coit of New London, class of '84, was then called to respond to the toast, "The Teachers." She spoke with deep feeling, and was listened to with interest. She was warmly applauded at the close.

Mrs. Helen Webb was next called upon to respond to the toast, "The Associated Members." The next toast was, "The Sweet Girl Graduate," to which Miss Cutler was called on to respond, which she did with most delightful mingling of wit and humor. As some of her pupils were present who last year enjoyed her instruction, the pleasure which her speech gave was the more marked.

Mrs. Marie Terry was called upon to respond to the toast, "Our Children." She did this in a brief manner, mentioning the number of them in the aggregate, and reading a catalogue of names in which many mothers present recognized their household pets. She spoke of the duty of sharing the pleasures of children, and paid a grateful tribute to childhood.

Rev. W. W. McLane of the College street church, who had been asked to "present the diplomas to the class," was present and was next called on. He responded very heartily, making a most entertaining speech, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. His genial manner was a delight, and his evident sympathy with the occasion.

Rev. Dr. Twitwell was the next speaker, and he was heartily applauded. He, too, has been so kind as to render the same service in the past at commencement time, viz. the presentation of diplomas.

Rev. Dr. Munger was the last speaker called upon. To him the school is indebted for frequent kindnesses. His response was both hearty and pleasing in its genial spirit and warmth of expression.

The president then followed him by a presentation speech in the course of which a beautiful desk was brought in as a gift to Mrs. Cady from the alumnae. The surprise and pleasure was so great that she was able to respond in a few words only.

The meeting was then adjourned, and a social time was again enjoyed.

WALLINGFORD.

The matinee races of the Wallingford Driving and Cycling association in the park Saturday afternoon promise to be interesting. The races begin at 1 o'clock.

The reports that come from Bridgeport hospital regarding the condition of George A. Lane continue to be encouraging and he is steadily improving. Yesterday morning he sat up long enough to eat his breakfast. His mind is all right and he is rational during the day and part of the night. The latter part of the night he has been quite delirious, owing to the terrible shock to his nervous system, which it is hoped will soon be better.

The commencement exercises at Rosemary hall will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The program is as follows: Nocturne—From Midsummer Night's Dream—Miss Durrill and Miss Rotan. Romance—(Jacoby)—Miss Rosalind Hazard. Spring Song—(Grieg)—Miss Movins.

Afterwards will be the address, awarding of prizes, prayer, benediction and the singing of school songs, around the school tree.

"At the Barn," scenes from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," will be presented by the Misses Meyers, Bronson, Spencer, Rowe, Waite, Mae Woods, Harriet Hazard, Helen Woods, Blackstock, Mulliken, Sawyer, Vredenburgh, Manning, Durrill, Lithgow, Rosalind, Hazard, Maltby and Munson.

The Wallingford play ball in Branford Saturday afternoon.
Aquilla Social will give a supper in Odd Fellows hall this evening.

Mrs. J. P. Stevenson and Mrs. G. T. Jones with three children are enjoying cottage life in Madison for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. A. H. Whiton is at Flying Point, Stony Creek, as guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. B. Northrop.

The annual rose festival for the benefit of the Ladies' Library association will be held in the Congregational church parlors Tuesday evening, June 18. Admission fifteen cents.

John Ward was alive early last evening and his chances for recovery were more favorable. To-day Dr. Wilson will perform an operation to his broken jaw bone. Holes will be drilled in the bone and silver wire used to draw the broken parts into place.

Mrs. Stephen Holland and her sister and other relatives have received a bequest from relatives in Ireland amounting to $500 each.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Calling Attention to State Expenses and Other Matters.
Hartford, June 13.—There were less than fifty members present in the house this afternoon when the clerk read a special message from Governor O. V. Coffin touching on various state expenses and other matters of interest at this time.

Governor Coffin calls attention to the fact that while the maximum sum allowed by Chapter LV. of the acts of 1889 for the support of the deaf and dumb is only $13,000, there was paid out from the treasury during the three years and three months ending September 30, 1894, the extra sum of $7,612.60.

He also discusses the large appropriations for state armories since 1882 ($200,000 that year), and notes that although no appropriations were made for the purpose, the armory commission and the quartermaster general's department expended for armory purposes in 1894, $35,882.14.

The sum of $6,000 will be needed to pay expenses of the blind for the ten years ending 30th inst., in addition to the $33,947 already paid. There was in 1893 a specific appropriation of $20,000 and the governor questions whether expenditures in excess of that sum are legal.

Governor Coffin recommends a law limiting bond issues by corporations to an amount not exceeding one-half the cash expenditure on or cash value of the property securing the bonds. The governor also suggests that there are unwise provisions in many private charters as to bond issues by investment and trust companies. He also objects to allowing the bonds and stock of these companies to be legal investments for trust funds. He recommends a general law to amend all existing charters containing these objectionable features.

Governor Coffin quotes from his inaugural message the portion relating to the secret ballot, favoring a blanket ballot or machine voting. He also quotes from that message his recommendations regarding a corrupt practices act. The governor says in conclusion:

"Indications are not wanting to show a disposition to bring about failure of the attempt to secure needed legislation in behalf of a pure ballot, and from certain facts which have come to my knowledge it is feared that once more, as in 1889, when the people are asking for bread, you are being urged to give them a stone. I beg you, therefore, to see to it that the power being now in your hands, that the just demands of the people are fairly met."

The several portions of the message were referred to the judiciary, banking and other committees having these matters respectively in charge.

CALEDONIAN CLUB.

Chief Pryde and Other Officers Re-elected.
The Club's Annual Excursion to Glen Island.

The New Haven Caledonian club met last night and elected officers for the ensuing six months. The chief and other officers were unanimously re-elected as follows: Chief, R. D. Pryde; first chieftain, Donald M. Fleming; second chieftain, John MacLachlan; third chieftain, Charles Menzies; fourth chieftain, George Woods.

The club also took action on its annual excursion and picnic, which will take place to Glen Island by the John H. Starin on July 14.

A Berlin Ex-Slave's Love for the Flag.
To-day is the 118th birthday of our national flag. Henry Brown of Berlin, a former slave in the south, has made all arrangements for honoring Old Glory. He has erected a pole in the fields where he labors, a place isolated from residences and highways, and to-day he will fly the flag from it, while he labors on under the swaying shadow of the waving emblem he loves so well.

SURPRISE PARTY

Tendered Mrs. L. N. Avery, Wednesday Night.
Mrs. L. N. Avery of 14 Saltonstall avenue, Fair Haven, upon returning from Worcester, Mass., Wednesday evening was surprised by her many friends with a birthday party, some seventy-five being present. During the evening Mrs. Avery was presented with a handsome mirror as a gift from her friends. Spurgeon Morrison made the presentation speech in a very pleasing manner. A goodly supply of delicacies were partaken of by those present.
